Senator Arthur H. Wicks announced today that his bill, which would have permitted the consolidation of the welfare departments of the city of Kingston and county of Ulster commencing next January 1st failed of passage in the Senate because the bill was not reported out of the Senate Committee and therefore did not reach the floor of the Senate for a vote. When Senator Wicks introduced the bill, it was referred for action to the Senate Cities Committee. Senator Wicks requested that committee to report his bill out and the committee failed to report it out.

The Wicks bill, which was the companion bill to the Wicks bill, passed the Assembly and when that bill reached the Senate it was referred to the Senate Cities Committee and was also not reported out.

The recent session of the legislature adjourned last Wednesday morning at 2:30. The failure of the Cities Committee to report out the Wicks bill was not discovered until Thursday afternoon, when the Senator's staff in Albany completed its check of what had happened to the 109 bills which Senator Wicks had introduced during the last session and which had been committed to the various committees of the Senate.

Immediately upon being informed by the Albany office of the fate of the Kingston welfare bill, Senator Wicks called Mayor William F. Edelmutz, expressing regret and, because the incident occurred in the Senate, assuming full responsibility for the failure of the bill to pass.

Over 6,000 bills were introduced in the session of the Legislature ended. More than 400 of these were referred to, considered by, and acted upon by the Senate Finance Committee, of which Senator Wicks is chairman. These bills had to be briefed, analyzed, reviewed and otherwise processed.

Dealers Protest
Boost in Retail
Prices of Autos

National Association Will Press Campaign to Stop
'Cockeyed Idea' of
O.P.A. on Cars

Washington, March 30 (AP)—Dealers took sharp issue with O.P.A. today as auto industry wage increases boosted retail prices $1 to $31 for new cars built by Chrysler, Ford, Hudson and Nash.

To prevent a bigger increase, O.P.A. ordered dealers' profit margins trimmed another two percentage points. They took a cut of two and a half points last November. Lee W. Moran, executive vice-president of the National Automobile Dealers Association, termed the fresh cut a "cockeyed idea," and said his organization will continue to press its campaign to have Congress outlaw the cost absorption principle.

"We are going to hammer away in every manner, shape and form until something is done about it," Moran told a reporter.

In announcing the price increases last night, O.P.A. said it expects that auto manufacturers' prices generally will have to be hiked an average of 2.5 percent as the result of wage increases already granted or anticipated.

Nine Makes Affected

The retail increases announced apply to nine makes of cars—Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler, Ford, Mercury, Lincoln, Hudson and Nash. They cover all models produced since March 11.

The increases are smallest for the four-Chrysler-built cars, running only $1 or $2 for each model. They are largest for the Lincoln line—$26 to $31.

The Ford increases range from $10 to $16, Mercury $11 to $18, Hudson $12 to $22, and Nash $1 to $10.

Meanwhile, an O.P.A. official who asked that his name be withheld said he still expects that retail prices for the General Motors line will average about 2 1/2 percent less than 1942 prices for Chevies, Buicks, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs. Thus far only

Council Seeks to Uncover
All Phases of Parleys
Held Between Two
Disputants

New York, March 30 (AP)—The possibility arose today that replies by Prime Minister Stalin and Premier Ahmed Qavam to Security Council inquiries about the situation in Iran might obviate further United Nations action in the Russian-Iranian dispute.

The Council yesterday adopted the direct method of asking Stalin and Qavam for reports of the status of negotiations between their countries and for information concerning whether Russia is exacting concessions for pulling Red Army troops out of oil-rich Iran. During the discussions, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes suggested that the answers—if and when they come—might show that the two countries needed no further assistance in settling their dispute.

Messages to Stalin and Qavam, fixing 11 a. m. E.S.T. Wednesday, April 3, as the deadline for receipt of the replies in New York, were sent by the Council Secretariat last night to Ambassadors Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union and Hussein Ala of Iran, for relay to their home governments.

Desire Details

"If the Council could obtain more adequate and exact information regarding the status of negotiations between the Soviet government and the Iranian government, the Council might be able to satisfy itself that the assurances of the Soviet government as to the prompt withdrawal of troops from Iran are in fact for all practical purposes unconditional," Byrnes told the Council yesterday.

"In that event, there might be no need for the Council to go into the substantive issues," he added. "provided it reserved the right to both parties to have the case immediately taken up by the Council should there be any developments which threatened to retard the withdrawal of troops."

The Council thus went over the heads of delegate Gromyko, who has absented himself from all sessions since losing his fight to stand off consideration of Iran's complaints until April 10, and Hussein Ala, who stoutly disputes Gromyko's contentions that an

Additional Arrests Predicted in Spy Ring in Canada

Ottawa, March 30 (AP)—Additional arrests were predicted today in the Canadian espionage investigation, as a two-man Royal Commission completed its questioning of a group of government employees taken into custody six weeks ago and accused of supplying secret information to Russia.

Charges of conspiracy and violation of the Official Secrets Act were filed yesterday against five persons, bringing to 15 the total of persons examined by the commission and charged in the courts. A 14th, Fred Rose, Communist member of Parliament, was committed for trial without having been examined by the commission.

The commissioners, in their third interim report, said "there remain a number of witnesses yet to be heard" but that most of these were persons whose names had been mentioned previously during the six weeks of interrogations.

Sources close to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said the inquiry had uncovered information which would lead to additional arrests. It was also suggested that some other persons might already be in custody.

Three-Cornered Race Looms for G.O.P. Leadership

in Keen Battle

Washington, March 30 (AP)—A brisk three-cornered race for the G.O.P. national chairmanship plus a new political experiment by Harold E. Stassen provided an advance build-up today for next week's meeting of the Republican National Committee.

As committee members began assembling here for Monday's sessions, Reps. Carroll Brown of Ohio and former Senator John A. Danaher of Connecticut appeared the top contenders for the post to be vacated by Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr.

Supporters claimed Reece has mustered strong support, but there were indications that Danaher and Brown are very much in the running. Some said a darkhorse might be chosen if a row develops.

The Stassen experiment had no connection with the committee.

LOUIS G. BRUHN

Effective On Monday April 1

Haver Will Devote His Entire Time to Legal Practice in His Local Office

Served Since 1940

Bruhn Has Practiced
Law Here Since Year
1934

Governor Thomas E. Dewey has accepted the resignation of District Attorney N. LeVan Haver, and has appointed Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, well known Kingston lawyer, to succeed him as district attorney of Ulster county. The appointment becomes effective on Monday, April 1.

The acceptance of Mr. Haver's resignation, and the appointment of Mr. Bruhn were placed in the mails this morning.

District Attorney Haver said that he had decided to resign the post of district attorney in order to devote his entire time to his private law work, and that he had submitted his resignation at this time in order to give returning service men an opportunity which may have been denied them while they were in service.

The newly appointed district attorney is a veteran of World War 2, and was admitted to the practice of law following his graduation from the Albany Law School in 1934.

Served Since 1940

Mr. Haver has served as district attorney of Ulster county since January 1, 1940 and prior to that had served as assistant district attorney under the late Cleon B. Murray from January 1, 1933 until he resigned in October of 1938. In 1939 Mr. Haver was nominated by the Republican party and was elected to the office at the general election that fall and on January 1, 1940, assumed the duties of the office, being re-elected in 1942 and again in 1945.

"I was sure that there was an attorney in Ulster county who had been in service who was competent and fully qualified to fill the office of district attorney, and for that reason decided to submit my resignation at this time," Mr. Haver said. "This gave Governor Dewey the opportunity to appoint such a man to the office and I am well pleased with the appointment of Louis Bruhn to the office of district attorney. I feel that the appointment made by Governor Dewey is a splendid one, that Mr. Bruhn, a returned service man, is fully able to carry on the duties of the office and while I am sorry that I felt it necessary to resign during the term of office to which I was elected, I am pleased that the appointment of Governor Dewey has been that of Mr. Bruhn, a returned service man."

District Attorney Louis Bruhn after being notified of his appointment to the office stated that there would be no change in the staff.

Victor G. Connolly, who has served as assistant district attorney under Mr. Haver since the resignation of Frederick Stang, who resigned to become county attorney, expressed his regret that Mr. Haver had deemed it advisable to resign before the expiration of his term, and stated that he was pleased with the appointment of Mr. Bruhn.

New District Attorney

Louis G. Bruhn was born in Kingston on October 17, 1908. He attended Public School No. 3 and in January 1923 he entered Kingston High School from which he was graduated in June 1926. In September 1927, Mr. Bruhn entered Union College where he received his A. B. Degree in June 1931. Following his graduation from Union College he entered Albany Law School and in September of that year and in June 1934, was graduated with the degree of LL.B.

While at Kingston High School he played basketball and football and at Union College for three years he had won the third baseman's position on the varsity team. Mr. Bruhn was also a member of the debating team and was secretary of his class during his senior year at Union. Outside of school he played semi-pro baseball for a number of years. Mr. Bruhn's father, Louis, was well known locally in baseball circles and was a former manager of the old Kingston

Opinion in Congress Favors Holding Bikini A-Bomb Tests

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The weight of congressional opinion tipped heavily today in favor of holding the Bikini A-bomb tests this summer, although three senators protested this is a bad time for such an awesome experiment.

Several senators interested in atomic energy developments said they are flatly opposed to calling off the tests, as suggested in yesterday's Senate resolution by Senators Huffman (D-Ohio) and Lucas (D-Ill.).

The Bikini tests originally were scheduled to begin approximately May 15, but President Truman ordered them postponed until conditions make possible the attendance of congressmen who would be kept away on the earlier date because of the press of legislative matters.

The Huffman-Lucas attack on plans to test atomic bombs on ships at the Marshall Island facility was based on their assertion that any such demonstration might be misinterpreted by other nations as evidence the United States is preparing for war.

Lucas told reporters that he would not feel very good about the whole thing in this country if some other nation were preparing to test out such a bomb while professing its desire to cooperate for world peace.

Tests Essential

But Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said he thinks the United States cannot continue to spend billions of dollars building and maintaining a navy without knowing what the atomic bomb will do to ships.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) pointed out that scientists could not test the destroyed cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan for several weeks after the bombs fell there and as a result are lacking in much data they expect to have after the Bikini tests.

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.), named by President Truman to aid in evaluating the results, said he did not regard the tests as indicating that this country is preparing for war.

"They merely will be a continuation of the scientific experiments necessary to obtain adequate information concerning atomic energy, as well as conducting the atomic tests," he said.

Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) found nothing inconsistent between the tests and recent State Department proposals that international control of atomic energy development for peaceful uses be given to a United Nations authority.

Development of an ionosphere rocket by the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, Calif., was announced March 21 by the Army Ordnance Department.

Marabell to Buy Schoentag's Hotel

Pflagar Will Transfer
Ownership of Place
in Near Future

Schoentag's Hotel on Route 9-W at Glasco, which has become one of Ulster county's best known eating places and summer resorts under the ownership and management of John B. Pflagar, is to change ownership shortly when Charles J. Marabell will take over the ownership. Mr. Pflagar will remain as manager of the hotel and business will continue to be operated under his direction as in the past.

The exact date of transfer was not announced but Mr. Pflagar stated that when the ownership change did take place he would continue as manager. Mr. Pflagar has purchased the former Millard residence property at 244 Albany avenue which he will occupy as a private home, commuting to the hotel to continue his duties as manager there.

Mr. Marabell has filed a certificate with the county clerk stating that he intends to conduct a business in the town of Saugerties under the name and style of Schoentag's Hotel, being successor in interest to the Mountainside Holding Company, Inc., which was the operating company under which Schoentag's Hotel is well known throughout the Hudson valley as a place where good food is always served and in addition to the restaurant and grill, it is also famous as a summer resort catering to a large volume of summer trade in addition to the year around business. The hotel has been under the direct management of Mr. Pflagar for several years. Mr. Pflagar stated that he was disposing of the property in order to be relieved of responsibility but would continue as manager.

Missing Child Found by Police

Vagrancy Charge Is Filed Against Woman Who
Sheltered Baby

Warsaw, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Three-year-old Mayer Trobman, object of an intensive search since Wednesday, was safe today in a Warsaw boarding home awaiting return to his parents in Philadelphia.

The child was found yesterday afternoon in a schoolhouse in nearby Attica. Shortly afterward, a young woman hitch-hiker told police she had brought Mayer there after a truck driver had left him in her care.

Wyoming County Sheriff Spring said the woman, booked on a vagrancy charge, identified herself as Miss Janet Holloway, 23, of Newark, N. J. She was picked up on the highway near Attica soon after teachers had reported to police that they saw a woman leave the boy.

A charge of vagrancy has been filed against her. The Wyoming county sheriff, Lewis Spring, said she first had given her name as Janet Holloway but later had been identified through fingerprint records as Amelia Sobka, 23, of 307 Ellen Street, Newark, N. J. Miss Sobka, Sheriff Spring said, had been on parole from the Clinton Prison for Women, Clinton, N. Y., where she was released April 5, 1945, after serving a term for assault.

The sheriff said this was her story: She met a truck driver in New York city and rode to Philadelphia with him "for the adventure of it." He had the baby with him. It was "sometime between Monday and yesterday." They proceeded from Philadelphia to Lancaster, Pa., where the driver asked her to get out with the baby until he unloaded. When he did not come back, she accepted a ride to Attica.

Spring said positive identification of the child was established through a scar on the stomach.

A chilly March wind whirled through the streets of the city during the early morning hours today, while the official city thermometer was recording 46 degrees.

The sudden change in the weather followed a day of mid-winter temperatures Friday when the official thermometer jumped to a high of 82 degrees during the afternoon. On Thursday the thermometer recorded 83 degrees.

Paris Peace Conference

Paris, March 30 (AP)—The Foreign Office announced today that it had received assurance from the United States that the European Peace Conference would be held as scheduled May 1.

The assurance was contained in a reply to a French note asking if France should have invitations on April 1. The same query was sent to Britain and Russia, but they have not replied as yet, the Foreign Office said.

Opposition Rises To Jap Elections

Far Eastern Commission Holds Secret Session To Consider Matter

By Graham Hovey
Washington, March 30 (AP)—Members of the Far Eastern Commission met in closed session today to examine Gen. Douglas MacArthur's arguments for holding Japanese national election April 10.

Some delegates to the 11-nation policy-making commission have registered opposition to Japanese elections at this time, but how far they would get under existing rules was speculative.

The Japanese cabinet fixed the election date with MacArthur's approval. Informally, the prime commander had the backing of the United States government in the matter.

If this government still is convinced the Japanese balloting should proceed on schedule, it can use its veto power to prevent the commission from issuing any different instruction to MacArthur.

An unusual alliance with the commission was expected to press for postponement of the elections. Russia's Nikolai V. Novikov was regarded by informants as certain to be in this group. So were the New Zealand and Australian delegates.

Says Japs Not Ready
Those who oppose elections now say the bulk of the Japanese people, to whom democratic practices are foreign, are yet ready to exercise the voting privilege. Some commission members also oppose the projected new constitution for Japan, which MacArthur has approved.

The information that the Far Eastern Commission had asked MacArthur to state his reasons for holding elections April 10 was disclosed yesterday by diplomatic officials familiar with the work of the commission.

No commission official, however, would admit existence of the communications to MacArthur. It was only in answer to a direct question that Nelson T. Johnson, secretary general of the commission, authorized its press officer to inform reporters that a meeting had been scheduled for today to discuss MacArthur's answer.

Under terms of the Moscow Big Three communique in December, the commission was organized somewhat along the lines of the United Nations Security Council. The U. S., Russia, Britain and China—but not France—have veto rights on policy matters.

Kaiser-Frazer Expects 147,000 Cars For 1946

Detroit, March 30 (AP)—Joseph W. Frazer, president of the Kaiser-Frazer Corp., said today his company has scheduled production of 147,000 passenger cars this year at nearby Willow Run.

Frazer told a news conference the first of the Kaiser vehicles in the medium-price bracket, will come from the line late next month and that in July the production of 8,000 units is projected. The first of the Kaiser cars, in the low-priced field, probably will be assembled-line produced about July 15, he said. About 90,000 of the year's total production, he added, will come in the final quarter of the year.

Price Controls Lifted From Processed Beans

Canned, frozen, fermented and brined snap beans are included in the suspension order, but Amendment 22 to SO-132 does not exempt any suspend strained or chopped beans sold as "baby food" or "junior food," O.P.A. said.

Coast Cities Gear For Battle With Smallpox Cases

(By The Associated Press)

Supplies of vaccine ran low in Pacific northwest cities today (Saturday) as Seattle fought to curb an outbreak of smallpox that has taken five lives, and her neighbor cities sought to bar their doors to the disease by large scale vaccination programs.

California also was alarmed, with San Francisco reporting eight cases. The Navy Transport La Salle arrived in the Bay city yesterday with another case aboard and the quarantine station said none of the 1,426 Navy men and Marines on the La Salle would be permitted ashore until April 1, at the earliest. No deaths had been reported in California.

In all but two of the Seattle deaths, physicians said, there were complicating factors such as heart trouble and old age. There were 22 known cases in the city. The hospital where most of these were held was under quarantine. One small hotel was quarantined and police guard placed at the door when a case was discovered there.

A program of mass vaccination was under way in Seattle, the city health department designating 26 fire stations as immunization centers. Mobile units are visiting the remaining schools.

In Portland, Ore., vaccine supplies ran low and city health authorities said that, in some cases, one vial of vaccine was used for two persons.

At Tacoma, Wash., police were called out to keep in line the crowds that gathered at the City-County Health Department Center for immunization. The supply of vaccine was exhausted at Spokane, Wash., by a sudden demand for the protection.

Maybe Rube Goldberg Cooked Up This One

Millboro, Pa., March 30 (AP)—Robert Morton, crane man for the Morton Sand and Gravel Co., rubbed his eyes to make sure he really saw a large moving van floating down the Monongahela river early yesterday.

Then he swung the big crane hook, snagged the truck and dragged it ashore.

As the van touched the bank, three men, only slightly scratched, clambered from the cab.

The truck had run off Route 88 on Town Hill in this Washington county community, plunged down a bank into the river and floated with the current instead of sinking.

Three-Cornered Race Looms for C.O.P. Leadership

meeting, but party stalwarts gave it more than passing attention because the former Minnesota governor is widely regarded as a potential contender for the G.O.P. presidential nomination in 1948.

The experiment takes the form of a new national organization designed to develop suggestions for party policy from young Republicans through open forum discussions. Stassen, who will be chairman of its advisory committee, announced the launching of the new organization last night.

Committeemen Skeptical
Several national committeemen took a skeptical view of the forum scheme, and some who would not be quoted directly said it looked to them more like a Stassen enterprise than a strictly Republican organization.

Others said they expected Stassen's idea to bring some swift developments in long-dormant proposals to add some more pronouncements to the statement of policy adopted by congressional Republicans last December and approved, with reservations, by the National Committee.

In the G.O.P. chairmanship race, Stassen is expected to have backing among committee members more than any of the others, but there was unmistakable evidence that some supporters of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York consider the Tennessee lawmaker a more closely associated politically with Senator Robert Taft and former Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, who might be presidential aspirants.

Danaher Possibility
As a result, these Dewey supporters were said to be leaning toward Danaher, appointed by Brownell as a $20,000 a year liaison man between the National Committee and Congress.

Brownell has said that neither he nor Dewey has any suggestion to make about his successor. Stassen told reporters he isn't backing anyone but added that the new chairman "must not be an isolationist." In the Senate, Danaher usually voted with the Republican wing which most vigorously opposed president Roosevelt's foreign policies.

Brownell also has urged that a full-time successor be chosen, a view that many committee members reportedly share. While Reece is ready to quit, the House to accept the chairmanship on a full-time basis, Brown has indicated he wants to retain his House seat.

If a decision is made to pick someone in Congress and let him take a leave of absence from the House, some Republicans have been watching the situation closely since that Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana might be the choice.

Thermometers Dip After Heat Wave

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Two days of record and near-record warm weather in New York State ended abruptly today as the mercury plunged to the 40's and freezing weather was forecast for tonight.

Albany, which sweltered to a record 85 yesterday, experienced a chill 40 degrees today and the thermometer in Syracuse read 45 compared with yesterday's record 80.

Other mid-morning readings included: Rochester and Tonawanda 39; Buffalo 40; Dansville 43; Glens Falls 46; Utica 49 and New York city at Gaughran Airport 52.

The Weather Bureau predicted fair and colder tonight with lowest temperature near 30.

38th Parallel Remains To Haunt the Koreans

Seoul, March 30 (AP)—Koreans presumably will have to recognize for some time longer that 38th parallel occupation boundary which they so strongly hate.

A communique today from the U. S.-Soviet Commission, detailing results of four days of discussions, made no mention of the geographical line which Koreans resent and which the Americans wanted to wipe out as one of the mission's first acts.

The communique, the first issued in a week, reported the commission had decided to divide its deliberations into two stages. Formation of a provisional government and rehabilitation of Korea.

DDT to the Rescue
Nanking, March 30 (AP)—Before the arrival of the Central Government from Chungking, this peace-time capital of China will get its work powered—warfare DDT.

Alarmed by the possibility of a malaria outbreak because of Nanking's insect-breeding waterpools and streams, United States and Chinese officials will dust the city from airplanes.

U.N.O. Asks Direct Word From Stalin

understanding has been reached between Russia and Iran.

Members in Agreement

With Russia absent, the 10 remaining members unanimously agreed to ask Stalin and Qavam for a true picture of the situation after Byrnes proposed that Secretary-General Trygve Lie communicate with the Soviet and Iranian leaders through Gromyko and Hussein Ali.

The Iranian ambassador was recalled to ask Stalin and Qavam for a true picture of the situation after Byrnes proposed that Secretary-General Trygve Lie communicate with the Soviet and Iranian leaders through Gromyko and Hussein Ali.

Hussein Ali replied that: (1) He was acting on "clear and broad" instructions to protect the interests of his country; (2) He has no information, "official or otherwise," that any Soviet troops have crossed the border from Iran into Russia; and (3) Premier Qavam instructed him to refer the issues to the Security Council "precisely" because "this desire to stay free from pressure from any foreign government in conducting the affairs of his office."

"My position is that there should be no postponement because nothing has been settled by negotiations," Hussein Ali added.

Nazis Deplored Attack On U. S. Trial Heirs

Nuernberg, March 30 (AP)—Joachim von Ribbentrop denied emphatically before the International Military Tribunal today that Germany had advance information on the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and declared: "It was something we never wanted."

He testified that the primary aim of the tri-partite pact signed by Germany, Italy and Japan was "above all to keep the United States out of the war and thereby isolate England."

"We tried repeatedly to get Japan to attack the British Empire at Hongkong and Singapore and to attack Russia," the former German foreign minister asserted.

"But Japan did neither of these two things, but a third thing—one which we had never considered or wanted."

Bread Scare

Mexico City, March 30 (AP)—Mexico City millers, alarmed over reports that U. S. wheat shipments would cease, said today that "if the United States government does not release shipments of wheat to Mexico within the next 20 days, Mexico City will be without bread." The national distributors and regulators said it had been advised by the U. S. government that shipments would cease.

A New Twist

Moscow, March 30 (AP)—An informed source said today that foreign correspondents will be allowed to see their stories after they have been censored. This would be a new development in censorship regulations of the Glavlit (Office of Literature and Publications).

Potter Bros. Hours

Potter Bros. sporting goods store at 294 Fair street is open every Friday evening until 9 o'clock. In their ad of Friday evening, it was erroneously stated that the store would be open for business until 9 p. m. daily.

Heat Pops Bottles

The good name of South African railways at last has been cleared of the stigma that consignments of wine and spirits were not safe with them. Distillers were disturbed when many bottles arrived at their destinations empty, and blamed thirsty railway employees. Investigation proved, however, that much of loss was caused by inadequate shelter from the sun at some stations, particularly Worcester. Bottles popped in the heat.

Japan's Crazy Prison System Is Driving Valentine Cuckoo

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—The little, balding Irishman from Brooklyn leaned back in his chair, rubbed a fist over his chin and exclaimed impatiently:

"We can't make any progress. These people drive you crazy." Lewis J. Valentine, former New York Police Commissioner, who came here to study the police system and recommend changes to General MacArthur, cited an example:

"The other day I watched an old man about 65 crossing the street. He was crossing against the signal. A Japanese policeman first whistled at him, then shouted. The old man paid no attention. Maybe he couldn't hear. Anyhow, the policeman ran over and knocked the old man down. He got up, tipped his hat to the policeman and walked away."

"We've got to change the attitude of the Japanese police toward the people and the attitude of the people toward the police."

Valentine said he didn't believe the Japanese police system could be democratized without making personnel changes because some police are "still tyrants."

His mission won't be finished by Easter—an early objective. Determinants to a speedy conclusion include the language barrier. At times it takes 10 minutes to obtain a simple yes or no answer from Japanese.

Conditions Depressing

Communications, the jail system, lack of crime statistics and tradition all are giving him trouble. "In this whole city only 14 police cars are operating. There are no radio patrols and they have a queer telephone system." And, he cast his eyes heavenward, "I don't even think these policemen walk their beats."

Their jails are filthy dirty. The other day I inspected one and found people living like animals; cooped up in dark cells with meals shoved into them through a hole in the bottom of a cell door. I saw one eight-year old boy whose only crime apparently was in being orphaned. His parents were killed in air raids. I was so depressed when I left that place, I couldn't come back to the office. I had to go right to my hotel."

"Arrgh," he gurgled in conclusion. "These so-called (A majority of Japanese police) are equipped with bottled swords about 18 inches long."

"Some of our bad boys in New York would have a fine time if policemen there were equipped only with swords."

Street Car-Bus Strike Threatens For Detroit

Detroit, March 30 (AP)—Detroiters who trudged through the city's last street car and bus strike in 1941 watched apprehensively today as negotiators sought to avert a threatened walkout of Detroit street railway operators.

Officials of the D.S.R. and the A.E.L. Street Car and Bus Operators Union met today with Philip Weiss, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, in last-minute efforts to reach a settlement. Weiss entered the deadlock wage negotiations yesterday.

A mass meeting of 5,200 D.S.R. operators is scheduled for Sunday afternoon. Union officials have recommended a strike vote be taken at the meeting if no agreement has been reached by that time.

The strike, if approved, would start at midnight Sunday when the existing contract expires.

The union is seeking an 18-cent-an-hour wage increase. The D.S.R.'s highest offer to date has been 14 cents.

War Veteran Slain By Estranged Wife

New York, March 30 (AP)—Michael O'Leary, 35-year-old war veteran, was found shot to death early today in his East Side apartment, and his wife, Elizabeth, was arrested on a homicide charge.

Police Capt. Frank Dunn quoted Mrs. O'Leary as saying she shot her husband with a shotgun after seeing him in a tavern with another woman. Dunn said the O'Learys were estranged.

O'Leary was found, police said, after a woman who identified herself as Betty Fraytag, 20, telephoned police headquarters.

Dunn said the Fraytag woman told him she returned to the apartment with O'Leary and they were confronted by Mrs. O'Leary.

Mrs. O'Leary was quoted by the police captain as saying she told her husband before she fired the gun, "You're not going to ruin anybody else's life."

Cigarette Ashes Cause Of Fatal Auto Crash

Pawling, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Cigarette ashes which blew into the eyes of an automobile driver resulted in an accident in which Corp. Stanley E. Catler, 29, of (315 East 29th St.) New York City, was killed. The United States Disciplinary Barracks at nearby Green Haven announced today.

First Lt. V. B. Wells of the Army installation said the accident occurred yesterday during a routine patrol by Catler and three other military policemen on the barracks grounds. Their car left the road, struck a tree, and turned over.

Catler's three companions, who were not seriously injured, were identified by Wells as P.E.C. Charles G. Loucks, driver; Corp. Richard F. Hollis and Corp. Gardner N. Bird.

Special O.S.S. Sound Effects

To Be Used in Broadcast

New York, March 30.—An Office of Strategic Services "cloak and dagger" idea will be used as a sound effect next week in the children's adventure series, "Terry and the Pirates," heard Monday through Friday at 5 p. m. over WABC.

Just before the atomic bombing of Japan, Bradley Barker, one of radio's veteran animal imitators, was working with the O.S.S. on a device which would make a sound like a sea-serpent. It was to be used to frighten the Japanese who sailed on the South China Sea, but the war ended before the effect could be put to use by the "cloak and dagger" boys. It since has been placed under the name of Barker for the current adventure of "Terry and the Pirates."

In next week's scripts, the villainess of the story, Ruby Buckle, will use the sounds, produced-in-the-scrip-by-Barker, which will be used to frighten Chinese fishermen away from the junk in which her pirate submarine is concealed.

Barker also produced another sound for the O.S.S., which actually was used in their work. He recorded his imitation of the sounds of wolves howling, and the O.S.S. had a whistle made which duplicated the sound of the whistles were sent to the Chinese guerrillas and used to frighten the Japanese, who are superstitious about howling wolves—believing that they indicate the approach of death.

Contests Announced For Young Musicians By State Music Clubs

In announcing the state-wide contests in voice and instruments sponsored by the New York Federation of Music Clubs, Dr. John Warren Erb, chairman, named Mrs. Helen Shore Loughran, as a regional director from whom detailed information may be obtained. Contests will be held in voice, piano, violin, cello, flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and horn for young musicians (age limit: 18 to 22 years).

Preliminary contests will be held in different parts of the state during April. The finals will be held in Albany only during the State Convention at Albany Institute of History and Art, 125 Washington avenue, Thursday evening May 9.

Among the distinguished panel of judges will be Cliff Bradt, music and drama critic of the Knickerbocker News; Miss Dorothy Ritz, music columnist of the Schenectady Gazette; and Edgar S. Van Olinda, widely known columnist and music critic of the Times-Union.

All instrumentalists must be prepared to play (not necessarily from memory) one sonata, or one concerto—three shorter pieces—one to demonstrate interpretation, one for tone and one for technique.

All singers must be prepared to perform a German Lied, a serious American song and one operatic aria. Singers will be required to take the sight-reading examinations.

The winners of these contests will be given federation awards.

A winner in the New York State Federation Contest for high voice will be presented by Dr. Erb in the role of "The Angel" in Stillman-Kelley's "Pilgrim's Progress" to be performed in November in New York city.

Pockets Are Practical As Well

As Decorative to Clothing

Pockets may be practical as well as decorative, according to the information received at the Ulster County Home Bureau from clothing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. House dresses, aprons, suits and garden or work clothes will be more convenient and satisfactory if pockets are made fully useful.

On the skirt, pockets should be placed where the hands slip in naturally without fumbling for the opening. Because arms differ in length, the location of the pocket needs to be tried out before final stitching is done. A patch pocket is more accessible to the hand if the top is slanted down toward the side rather than cut straight across. Slanted pockets placed comfortably low on skirts are also safer, because they are less likely to catch on handles and door-knobs.

Pockets should be cut large enough and placed on a loose part of the garment. If placed where the dress fits the body closely over the round line of the hips or bust, for example, the pocket will fill out the pocket and any article forced in, even a handkerchief, will make an unattractive bulge and strain the garment.

Public Ready for Television Say Newsmen Covering U.N.O.

New York, Mar. 30.—An overwhelming majority of newspapermen covering the United Nations Security Council have indicated that the general public will accept television as soon as reasonably priced receivers reach the market, according to a survey released today in "Radio Daily."

Questioned in the "overflow" chamber at Hunter College, where 12 R.C.A. television receivers have been installed to accommodate newspapermen in their coverage of the conference, 80 per cent of the correspondents polled indicated their preference for black-and-white television.

Correspondents who had been overseas during the war and were seeing television for the first time in five years were unanimous in praising the "tremendous improvement" in image quality since Pearl Harbor. Staunch advocates of monochrome video were editorial cartoonists, reporters and columnists, the poll revealed.

NBC Television is cooperating with RCA in bringing proceedings of the sessions to interested persons by video. In addition to the 12 sets installed at Hunter College, six more have been installed in NBC's Radio City studios and one in the NBC newsroom.

Unwed Mother Stirs Debate in Copenhagen

Copenhagen, March 30 (AP)—Copenhagen newspapers reported today that Miss Inger Merete Nordentoft, 42, Copenhagen school principal and Communist member of Parliament, gave birth last night to a six-pound daughter. Both were reported doing well.

Miss Nordentoft applied for maternity leave from the school just before Christmas last year, stirring a public debate as to whether an unmarried school principal should be permitted to keep her job after giving birth to a child.

Mrs. Julius Gifford, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church, and her committee are making arrangements for the annual Lenten Tea to be held in the church parlors Friday, April 12, at 2:30 p. m.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

PET NAMES TABOO IN BUSINESS

This letter speaks for itself: "In an office where there are a number of other workers, a man and his wife are employed. She never addresses him by his given name, but always as 'darling,' 'honey' or something endearing. Most of the other people in the office consider this out of place and they resent it. There are, however, a few who think it charming. Both factions would like to see your opinion in print!"

It is in very bad taste, indeed. In fact the only example I know of that is worse is that of the saleswoman who calls every strange customer "dearie."

Gifts Not Opened at Large Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: Many of the wedding guests at my sister's reception brought their presents with them. My sister put these aside after thanking each one and had them taken home later without being opened. She is writing thank you notes as fast as she can. My father thought it unkind of her not to have opened the packages right then and there. He said not only was she unkind but also she would have saved herself the trouble of having to write notes now. Will you please tell us what is best to do in a situation like this one?

Meaning of "Housewarming"

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please print at an early date the meaning of housewarming? I am from another country and don't quite understand the American way of life. Does housewarming call for a gift? If so, please include the answer to that and if you would be so kind, give a list of a few items that are customary.

Answer: A housewarming is merely an invitation issued by the owners to come and see their new house. Usually light refreshments are served on the dining room table and always the entire house is open for inspection. The guests, on occasion, takes presents, usually very small items that will go into any house. However, bringing a gift never is considered necessary.

Would you like to entertain friends at your new home? Send for Mrs. Post's leaflet, "A Housewarming," in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and enclose a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opposition Rises To Jap Elections

Far Eastern Commission Holds Secret Session To Consider Matter

By Graham Hovey

Washington, March 30 (AP)—Members of the Far Eastern Commission met in closed session today to examine Gen. Douglas MacArthur's arguments for holding Japanese national elections April 10.

Some delegates to the 11-nation policy-making commission have registered opposition to Japanese elections at this time, but how far they would get under existing rules was speculative.

The Japanese cabinet fixed the election date with MacArthur's approval. Presumably, the supreme commander had the backing of the United States government in the matter.

If this government still is convinced the Japanese balloting should proceed on schedule, it can use its veto power to prevent the commission from issuing any different instruction to MacArthur.

An unusual alliance with the commission was expected to press for postponement of the elections.

Russia's Nikolai V. Novikov was regarded by informed diplomats as certain to be in this group. So were the New Zealand and Australian delegates.

Those who oppose elections now say the bulk of the Japanese people, to whom democratic practices are foreign, are yet ready to exercise the voting privilege. Some commission members also oppose the projected new constitution for Japan, which MacArthur has approved.

The information that the Far Eastern Commission had asked MacArthur to state his reasons for holding elections April 10 was disclosed yesterday by diplomatic officials familiar with the work of the commission.

No commission official, however, would admit existence of the communications to MacArthur. It was only in answer to a direct question that Nelson T. Johnson, secretary general of the commission, authorized its press officer to inform reporters that a meeting had been scheduled for today to discuss MacArthur's answer.

Under terms of the Moscow Big Three communique in December, the commission was organized somewhat along the lines of the United Nations Security Council.

The U. S., Russia, Britain and China—but not France—have veto rights on policy matters.

Kaiser-Frazer Expects 147,000 Cars For 1946

Detroit, March 30 (AP)—Joseph W. Frazer, president of the Kaiser-Frazer Corp., said today his company has scheduled production of 147,000 passenger cars this year at nearby Willow Run.

Frazer told a news conference the first of the Frazer vehicles in the medium-price line will come from the lines in the next month and that in July the production of 8,000 units is projected.

The first of the Kaiser cars, in the low-priced field, probably will be assembly-line produced about July 15, he said. About 90,000 of the year's total production, he added, will come in the final quarter of the year.

Coast Cities Gear For Battle With Smallpox Cases

(By The Associated Press)

Supplies of vaccine ran low in Pacific northwest cities today (Saturday) as Seattle fought to curb an outbreak of smallpox that has taken five lives, and her neighbor cities sought to bar their doors to the disease by large-scale vaccination programs.

California also was alarmed, with San Francisco reporting eight cases. The Navy Transport La Salle arrived in the Bay city yesterday with another case aboard and the quarantine station said none of the 1,246 Navy men and Marines on the La Salle would be permitted ashore until April 1, at the earliest. No deaths had been reported in California.

In all but two of the Seattle deaths, physicians said, there were complicating factors such as heart trouble and old age. There were 22 known cases in the city. The hospital where most of the were held was under quarantine. One small hotel was quarantined and police guard placed at the door when a case was discovered there.

A program of mass vaccination was under way in Seattle, the city health department designating 26 free stations as immunization centers. Mobile units are visiting the region's schools.

In Portland, Ore., vaccine supplies ran low and city health authorities said that, in some cases, one vial of vaccine was used for two persons.

At Tacoma, Wash., police were called out to keep in line the crowds that gathered at the City-County Health Department Center for immunization. The supply of vaccine was exhausted at Spokane, Wash., by a sudden demand for the protection.

Maybe Rube Goldberg Cooked Up This One

Millisboro, Pa., March 30 (AP)—Robert Morton, crane man for the Norton Sand and Gravel Co., rubbed his eyes to make sure he really saw a large moving van floating down the Monongahela river early yesterday.

Then he swung the big crane hook, snagged the truck and dragged it ashore.

As the van touched the bank, three men, only slightly scratched, clambered from the cab.

The truck had run off Route 88 on Fox Hill in this Washington county community, plunged down a bank into the river and floated with the current instead of sinking.

meeting, but party stalwarts gave it more than passing attention because the former Minnesota governor is widely regarded as a potential contender for the G.O.P. presidential nomination in 1948.

The experiment takes the form of a new national organization designed to develop suggestions for party policy from young Republicans through open forum discussions. Stassen, who will be chairman of its advisory committee, announced the launching of the new organization last night.

Committeemen Skeptical

Several national committeemen took a skeptical view of the forum scheme, and some who would not be quoted directly said it looked like a strictly Republican organization.

Others said they expected Stassen's idea to bring some swift developments in long-dormant proposals to add some more announcements to the statement of policy adopted by congressional Republicans last December and approved, with reservations, by the National Committee.

In the G.O.P. chairmanship race, Reece seemed to have more backing among committee members than any of the others, but there was unmistakable evidence that some supporters of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, too closely associated politically with Senator Robert Taft and former Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, who might be presidential aspirants.

Danaher Possibility

As a result, these Dewey supporters were said to be leaning toward Danaher, appointed by Brownell as a $20,000 a year liaison man between the National Committee and Congress.

Brownell has said that neither he nor Dewey has any suggestion to make about his successor. Stassen told reporters that he isn't backing anyone but added that the new chairman "must not be an isolationist." In the Senate, Danaher usually voted with the Republican wing which most vigorously opposed President Roosevelt's foreign policies.

Brownell also has urged that a full-time successor be chosen, a view that many committee members reportedly share. While Reece is ready to quit the House to accept the chairmanship on a full-time basis, Brown has indicated he wants to retain his House seat.

If a decision is made to pick someone in Congress and let him take a leave of absence from the House, some Republicans who have been watching the situation closely said that Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana might be the choice.

Thermometers Dip After Heat Wave

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Two days of record and near-record warm weather in New York State ended abruptly today as the mercury plunged to the 40's and freezing weather was forecast for tonight.

Albany, which sweltered to a record 83 yesterday, experienced a chill 43 degrees today and the thermometer in Syracuse read 45 compared with yesterday's record of 82.

Other mid-morning readings included: Rochester and Binghamton, 39; Buffalo 40; Danville 43; Glens Falls 46; Utica 49 and New York city at LaGuardia Airport 52.

The Weather Bureau predicted fair and colder tonight with low temperatures in the 30's.

38th Parallel Remains To Haunt the Koreans

Seoul, March 30 (AP)—Koreans presumably will have to recognize for some time longer that 38th parallel occupation boundary which they so strongly hate.

A communique today from the Soviet Commission, detailing results of four days of discussions, made no mention of the geographic line which Koreans resent and which the Americans wanted to wipe out as one of the mission's first acts.

The communique, the first issued in a week, reported the commission had decided to divide its deliberations into two stages: formation of a provisional government and establishment of Korea.

DDT to the Rescue

Nanking, March 30 (AP)—Before the arrival of the Central Government in Chungking, this peace-loving capital of China will get its first dose of DDT.

Arrived by the possibilities of a new insecticide, because of the pest problem caused by the Japanese, the United States and China will use the sun at some stage, possibly from airplanes.

Practiced Here Since 1934

Following his graduation from Albany Law School in 1934, Louis G. Bruhn was admitted to practice of law in September of that year and became associated with the late Senator Charles W. Walton. He remained with that law firm until 1935 when he opened his own law offices at 260 First street where he continued to practice law until in March 1943, when he entered the armed forces. After serving in the United States Army until October 1945, Mr. Bruhn resumed practice of the law on his discharge from service when he opened offices at 284-286 Wall street in December 1945.

Mr. Bruhn has served as a member of the Board of Health of the City of Kingston and also as a member of the Zoning Board of the city. He is a former president of the Kingston Republican Club and has also served as president of the Kingston Bowling Association. A member of Kingston Lodge No. 550, B.P.O.E., he is a past exalted ruler of the lodge. He is a member of the Lutheran Church of this city, Mendelssohn Club, Wilkewick Golf Club, A. H. Ellenville Jury Clears Van Aken of Violation Constable George R. VanAken of the town of Wawarsing, who on February 17 was charged by Chief of Police Richard Porter of Ellenville with hacking without a license, was cleared of the charge by a six man jury in Police Justice Benjamin Lonsstein's court, Ellenville, Monday night.

At a previous trial, on March 11, a jury failed to agree. At the last trial, in which the jury exonerated VanAken, the latter admitted that he had carried various persons in his car, but that any money he had received had been given to him as a gift and not as a fee in payment for the transportation. The jury apparently accepted his version of the transaction.

Russian Opinion

Moscow, March 30 (AP)—Soviet observers said today they felt that the United States and Britain were violating the principle of "equality among nations" in pressing the Soviet-Iranian case before the United Nations Security Council. Private conversations showed that Russians also were of the opinion the Security Council at London gave Russia and Iran a directive to settle the question laterally and that this was being done, but by presenting the case again to the Council the U. S. and Britain were trying to take advantage of a legal technicality.

Heat Pops Bottles

The good name of South African rainforestmen at last has been cleared of the stigma that came with the name. Distillers were disturbed when many bottles of the "Rainforest" brandy were found to be empty.

Investigation proved, however, that much of the loss was caused by rainforestmen who were using the brandy to make a drink called "Rainforest" which was sold at some of the better hotels in Worcester. Bottles popped in the heat.

Japan's Crazy Prison System Is Driving Valentine Cuckoo

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—The little, balding Irishman from Brooklyn leaped back in his chair, rubbed a fist over his chin and exclaimed impatiently:

"We can't make any progress. These people drive you crazy. Lewis J. Valentine, former New York Police Commissioner, who came here to study the police system and recommend changes to General MacArthur, cited an example:

"The other day I watched an old man about 65 crossing the street. He was crossing against the signal. A Japanese policeman first whistled at him, then shouted. The old man paid no attention. Maybe he couldn't hear. Anyhow, the policeman ran over and knocked the old man down. He got up, tipped his hat to the policeman and walked away.

"We've got to change the attitude of the Japanese police toward the people and the attitude of the people toward the police."

Valentine said he didn't believe the Japanese police system could be democratized without making personnel changes because some police are "still tyrants."

His mission won't be finished by Easter—an early objective. Determinants to a speedy conclusion include the language barrier. At times it takes 10 minutes to obtain a simple yes or no answer from Japanese.

Communications, the jail system, lack of crime statistics and tradition all are giving him trouble. "In this whole city only 14 police cars are operating. There are no radio patrols and they have a queer telephone system." And, he cast his eyes heavenward, "I don't even think these policemen walk their beats."

"Their jails are filthy dirty. The other day I inspected one and found people living like animals; cooped up in dark cells with meals shoved into them through a hole in the bottom of a cell door. I saw one eight year old boy whose only crime apparently was in being orphaned. His parents were killed in air raids. I was so depressed when I left that place, I couldn't come back to the office. I had to go right to my hotel."

"Arrgh," he gurgled in conclusion, "those swords." (A majority of Japanese policemen are equipped with honed swords about 18 inches long.)

"Some of our bad boys in New York would have a fine time if policemen there were equipped only with swords."

Street Car-Bus Strike Threatens For Detroit

Detroit, March 30 (AP)—Detroiters who trudged through the city's last street car and bus strike in 1941 watched apprehensively today as negotiators sought to avert a threatened walkout of Detroit street railway operators.

Officials of the D.S.R. and the A.E.L. Street Car and Bus Operators Union met today with Philip Weiss, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, in last-minute efforts to reach a settlement. Weiss entered the deadlock wage negotiations yesterday.

A mass meeting of 5,200 D.S.R. operators is scheduled for Sunday afternoon. Union officials have recommended a strike vote be taken at the meeting if no agreement has been reached by that time.

The strike, if approved, would start at midnight Sunday when the existing contract expires. The union is seeking an 18-cent-an-hour wage increase. The D.S.R.'s highest offer to date has been 14 cents.

War Veteran Slain By Estranged Wife

New York, March 30 (AP)—Michael O'Leary, 35-year-old war veteran, was found shot to death early today in his East Side apartment, and his wife, Elizabeth, was arrested on a homicide charge.

Police Capt. Frank Dunn quoted Mrs. O'Leary as saying she shot her husband with a .38 Smith & Wesson in a tavern with another woman. Dunn said the O'Learys were estranged.

O'Leary was found, police said, after a woman who identified herself as Betty Fraytag, 20, telephoned police headquarters.

Dunn said the Fraytag woman told him she returned to the apartment with O'Leary and they were confronted by Mrs. O'Leary.

Mrs. O'Leary was quoted by the police captain as saying she told her husband before she fired the gun, "You're not going to ruin anybody else's life."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 30, 1946

SPRING NAVIGATION

Freighters of the Great Lakes are getting a slow start this spring. Although the ice is breaking up earlier than usual, most of the big ships are passing by their chance to open the navigation season about April first, as they have for years. Many of the ore boats are not expected to head up the lakes until late in the month.

The fleet which made phenomenal records for carrying iron ore, coal, limestone and grain during the war is still at winter berth because this year there is no urgency for lake transportation. They brought so much ore down from the Superior country last year that the stock piles are still high. The demand of steel mills dropped with the end of the war, and the recent strikes further held back consumption. Grain came down so fast last season that the storage bins of the Middle West are nearly empty.

When the long ships begin to move, they will be far from idle, for the vessels which passed through the Detroit River at the rate of one every 19 minutes during the war have always been essential to the nation's industry.

This year it will be good to know that their cargoes are raw materials destined to be used for machinery, tools, automobiles, washing machines—the needs of peace—rather than the armaments of the past five years.

MINNESOTA'S CANDIDATE

Harold E. Stassen is not Minnesota's first presidential candidate. Back in 1908, when William Jennings Bryan seemed an inevitable choice to run for the third time, many anti-Bryan Democrats thought of Minnesota's Swedish governor, John A. Johnson had been elected in 1904 despite a Republican landslide, and re-elected in 1906. His appeal, apart from his record as governor, would have been as the first son of an immigrant to be chosen by a major party. This might of course have deterred some voters while attracting others. Ex-President Grover Cleveland, hoping to end Bryan's control of the party, told friends that Johnson was the best available candidate in sight.

In the end Bryan's hold was too strong. Johnson got 46 votes in the convention; but Bryan was nominated on the first ballot, only to lose the election to William H. Taft. Johnson was elected governor for the third time while Bryan was losing Minnesota, but died in office soon afterwards. His ability and winning personality made observers think that if he had lived, he might have been the Democratic nominee in 1912 instead of Woodrow Wilson.

WHO GIVES HIMSELF

It is evident that we have to feed the starving peoples abroad. The devastation of fields and storehouses, destruction of men and machinery, the planting of bombs instead of food, so that farmers plowing even today are in danger of death in many places, is one of the inevitable wastes of war.

This is a land of plenty, and we shall give of our abundance to help those who need it. That much is settled. But with what spirits shall we give?

Shall we stew over that small change in bread flour? Shall we begrudge every shipload? Shall we be greedy and complaining? Shall we be niggardly with our Invisible Guest? Or shall we go all out in the good American way, sharing with a smile, giving with gracious generosity, hospitably, as to the guest at home?

The most serious need is only for 120 days. What's a slice of bread a day for four months? Nothing. Eat a potato. Or go without the potato, too. The Invisible Guest needs it terribly. Let's think up ways to help more than we are asked to do.

Remember the Vision of Sir Launfal, read in school?

"Who gives himself with his alms feeds three Himself, his hungry neighbor, and Me."

THE TECHNIQUE OF BOYCOTT

No matter what happens in the Iranian situation, the Russians have again proved that in a manner of speaking East is East and West is West. In the Western World, we understand the responsibility of voluntary association; that when one joins a body, the decision of the majority in that body is binding upon him. When in U.N.O., the decision was nine to two for considering the Iranian question, the Russian walked out. He boycotted the session.

It is a difference in point of view. It is the same as the Russian insistence on the veto. It is the same as the Russians holding an election with only one list of candidates, with no opposition. To the Russians, what we call democratic action is the submission of the powerful to the will of the powerless. To us, democratic action is the recognition of the rights of the minority to equal opportunity with the majority. They believe that a free press is one that is permitted to exist by the government; we believe that a free press is one that exists without government interference.

Their concept of life is wholly different from ours because their traditions, their habits of mind, their beliefs are different from ours. The great Count Tolstoy sought to break through the darkness of his world and to discover what freedom meant. In the epilogue to "War and Peace," he struggles with the meaning of freedom. This is what he reaches:

"Freedom is what is observed, necessity is what observes. Freedom is the substance, necessity is the form. Only by separating these two sources of self-comprehension (which are to one another as form to substance) can we gain distinct ideas of freedom and necessity—ideas which, when combined, are both incomprehensible and mutually exclusive. Likewise it is only by uniting them that we can gain a clear conception of the life of man."

How much simpler is freedom expressed in the Constitution of the United States:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

Or that clause in the XIV. Amendment which reads:

"Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

We have to face the fact that henceforth we have to do business with a people who do not understand us and whom we do not understand. It is not a question of capitalism or communism, of a republic or a despotic oligarchy. It is a question of human reactions to identical situations. I have never seen that stated better than in William Ayllott Orton's "The Liberal Tradition," when he says:

"... The individual may say to the state in practical matters, I think you are wrong but for the sake of peace or expediency, I will assent to your policy; but when the state says to the individual, I know I am right and I call upon you to testify to that fact—then comes the parting of the ways; one way may lead to tyranny while the other leads to the concentration camp and the firing squad."

Compare that with a statement by Stalin at the beginning of the Russian Revolution:

"The fundamental question of revolution is the question of power. Who holds power, which class is in power?—this is what wholly determines the character of a revolution, its course and outcome. What is called a crisis of power is nothing more nor less than the outward expression of the class struggle for power."

We think in terms of rights and obligations; they think in terms of power. They think in terms of a class struggle; we think in terms of the rights, privileges, duties, obligations and immunities of the individual. When we talk to each other, we really do not use the same ideas. We use language that can be understood but we hardly reach a meeting of minds on anything. That is our difficulty.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

GOOD INSURANCE TO BE CHECKED

As I believe everybody should know their physical condition, whether or not any symptoms of illness are present, I have a barium meal and X-ray of stomach and intestines every 5 years, and an electrocardiogram of the heart, together with an outline of the size and position of the heart as shown by the fluoroscope (X-rays).

The barium meal as it travels from stomach to small intestine and thence to large intestine and finally completely leaves the body not only shows if any growth or obstruction is present but also if the stomach is getting rid of the food or barium within the usual 4 to 6 hours, the small intestine absorbing the good out of the food into the blood in 10 to 12 hours and the large intestine gradually getting rid of the wastes from the food in another 18 to 24 hours or thereabouts.

In the examination of the heart most physicians are interested in its ability to do its ordinary work without causing breathlessness. A heart may have a murmur, a leaking valve, an extra beat, some irregularity and yet if the individual can do physical work without breathlessness, and there is no swelling of the feet, the heart is considered to be safe or compensated.

However you are hearing much about coronary thrombosis, coronary sclerosis or heart stroke which are all the same. This has not to do with the muscular strength of the heart but of the condition of the blood vessels which may be hard like a pipe stem or flaccid like a bit of overstretched rubber. In either case more pressure is needed to pump blood through them. It is where the blood vessel supplying the heart breaks, bleeding occurs and thus part of the heart cannot do its work that is called heart stroke. By means of the electrocardiograph the "electrical" or nerve impulses that start the heart movements of pumping blood are recorded. By observing the tracings made by the electrocardiograph the physician can detect if any damage has been done by comparing the tracing (electrocardiogram) with a normal electrocardiogram or a previous electrocardiogram of the patient before the heart attack occurred. Remember, high blood pressure may be caused by emotional disturbances, overeating and drinking, and not by weak or hardened blood vessels.

Planes Supply Metal

Winter-sport fans around Grimsd, Norway, are riding on the best bob-sleds they ever had, because an enterprising young mechanic is turning out a "super-duper" product with frame, runners and steering apparatus made of precious duraluminum. Raw material is no problem to this artisan, who has collected enough of the light metal from war planes shot down in that district to keep six men employed—and sportsmen are beating a path to his door.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Butternut, Newest and Best Small Squash

By DEAN HALLIDAY
 Released by Central Press Association

AMONG the newest good things for the post-war vegetable garden is the Butternut squash, whose size is just right for the ordinary family, one squash to a meal.

The fruit is 10 to 12 inches long, and bottle shaped, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Its trim shape and size makes for economical kitchen use.

It has the smallest seed cavity and the largest amount of sweet, fine-grained flesh for its size of any squash now grown, as illustrated. Its tender flesh cooks smooth and creamy, with no trace of stringiness or fiber.

Butternut squash can be baked or boiled and it makes delicious pies. It can also be kept in ordinary warm storage through the winter.

Contests Announced For Young Musicians By State Music Clubs

In announcing the state-wide contests in voice and instruments sponsored by the New York Federation of Music Clubs, Dr. John Warren Erb, chairman, named Mrs. Henry Dunbar, Hurley, as a regional director from whom detailed information may be obtained. Contests will be held in voice, piano, violin, cello, flute, organ, clarinet, bassoon and horn for young musicians (age limit: 16 to 22 years).

Preliminary contests will be held in different parts of the state during April. The finals will be held in Albany only during the State Convention at Albany Institute of History and Art, 125 Washington avenue, Thursday evening May 9.

Among the distinguished panel of judges will be Cliff Bratt, music and drama critic of the Knickerbocker News; Miss Dorothy Ritz, music columnist of the Schenectady Gazette; and Edgar S. Varolinda, widely known columnist and music critic of the Times-Union.

All instrumentalists must be prepared to play (not necessarily from memory) one sonata, or one concerto—three shorter pieces—one to demonstrate interpretation, one for tone and one for technique.

All singers must be prepared to perform a German Lied, a serious American song and one operatic aria. Singers will be required to take the sight-reading examinations.

The winners of these contests will be given federation awards. A winner in the New York State Federation Contest for high voice will be presented by Dr. Erb in the role of "The Angel" in Stillman-Keller's "Pilgrim's Progress" to be given in Town Hall, during November in New York City.

Just before the atomic bombing of Japan, Bradley Barker, one of radio's veteran animal imitators, was working with the O.S.S. on a device which would make a sound like a sea-serpent. It was to be used to frighten the Japanese who sailed on the South China Sea, but the war ended before the device could be put to use by the "clever" boys. It since has been picked up by writer Al Barker for the current adventure of Terry and the Pirates.

In next week's scripts, the villainess of the story, Ruby Buckle, will use the sounds, produced in the device, by floating boxes which will emit eerie sounds when the wind blows across them, to frighten Chinese fishermen away from the junk in which her pirate submarine is concealed.

Barker also produced another sound for the O.S.S. which actually was used in their work. He recorded his imitation of the sounds of wolves howling, and the O.S.S. had a whistle made which imitated these sounds, in the whistles sent to the Chinese guerrillas and used to frighten the Japanese, who are superstitious about howling wolves—believing that they indicate the approach of death.

Later, he turned again to his special talents as Texas Guinan, Bessie, Bert, and others, before entering the comedy business and feature shorts. He was last heard on the air regularly on the late Ben Bernie's program in 1938.

Lehr will succeed Fred Ullah, who had been emcee of "Detect and Collect" since its beginning.

Public Ready for Television Say Newsmen Covering U.N.O.

New York, March 30.—An overwhelming majority of newspapermen covering the United Nations Security Council have indicated that the general public will accept television as soon as reasonably priced receivers reach the market, according to a survey released today in "Radio Daily."

Questioned in the "overflow" chamber at Hunter College, where 12 R.C.A. television receivers have been installed to accommodate newspapermen in their coverage of the conference, 80 per cent of the correspondents polled indicated their preference for black-and-white television.

Correspondents who had been overseas during the war and were seeing television for the first time in five years were unanimous in praising the "tremendous improvement" in image quality since Pearl Harbor. Staunchest advocates of monochrome video were editorial cartoonists, reporters and columnists, the poll revealed.

NBC Television is cooperating with the sessions to interested persons by video. In addition to the 12 sets installed at Hunter College, six more have been installed in NBC's Radio City studios and one in the NBC newsroom.

PET NAMES TABOO IN BUSINESS

This letter speaks for itself: "In an office where there are a number of other workers, a man and his wife are employed. She never addresses him by his given name, but always as 'darling,' 'honey,' or something endearing. Most of the other people in the office consider this out of place and they resent it. There are, however, a few who think it charming. Both factions would like to see your opinion printed!"

It is in very bad taste, indeed. In fact the only example I know of that is worse is that of the saleswoman who calls every strange customer "dearie."

Gifts Not Opened at Large Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: Many of the wedding guests at my sister's reception brought their presents with them. My sister put these aside after thanking each one and had them taken home later without being opened. She is writing thank you notes as fast as she can. My father thought it unkind of her not to have opened the packages right then and there. He said not only was she unkind but also she would have saved herself the trouble of having to write notes now. Will you please tell us what is best to do in a situation like this one?

Answer: I think your sister was right. Unless the wedding was very small, there hardly would have been time to open many presents and the cards might have been lost.

Meaning of "Housewarming"

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please print at an early date the meaning of housewarming? I am from another country and don't quite understand the American way of life. Does housewarming call for a gift? If so, please include the answer to that and if you would be so kind, give a list of a few items that are customary.

Answer: Housewarming is merely an invitation issued by the owners to come and see their new house. Usually light refreshments are served on the dining room table and always the entire house is open for inspection. The guests, on occasion, takes presents, usually very small items that will go into any house. However, bringing a gift never is considered necessary.

Would you like to entertain friends at your new home? Send for Post's leaflet, "A Housewarming," in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y. and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bare Two Attempts to Kill Kai-Shek in 1935

Chungking, March 30 (AP)—Two attempts on the life of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek—in 1934 and 1935—were disclosed today with the reported sentencing of Yu Li-Chi, a Chinese newspaperman and alleged terrorist, to 13 years imprisonment and deprivation of civil rights for eight years.

Ho Ping Pao, a Chinese National Army newspaper, said that Yu was convicted at Kewiyang, the capital of Kweichow Province. The prosecution charged he belonged to a terrorist organization.

The dispatch did not give details of the attempts on Chiang's life. It said Yu also was responsible for an attempt on the life of T. V. Soong in Shanghai in 1931, when the present premier was minister of finance.

Yu was seized in Nanking in November 1935 after, police said, he shot and wounded Premier Wang Ching Wei, who later became Japan's No. 1 puppet in China.

Wang died in Japan in 1944, a few months after an operation by Japanese physicians for removal of the bullet.

Senate Setback Is Threat to Truman Wage Legislation

Washington, March 30 (P)—The administration smarted today under a severe setback that threatened to doom President Truman's minimum wage legislation.

The showdown came on a proposal to incorporate in the bill provisions that would boost farm prices, and the proposal won 42-31 yesterday despite Mr. Truman's advance warning that he would veto the measure in that form.

The Senate's week-end recess gave perplexed presidential lieutenants a chance to take inventory and consider recasting plans in the face of a politically important defeat.

The farm-price boost amendment won approval after less than an hour of fiery debate. The roll-call vote found 24 Democrats and 19 Republicans shouting "yes" and 21 Democrats, 9 Republicans the lone Progressive LaFollette (Wis.) answering the "no" asked by the President.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.), who had gravely delivered to the White House veto warning, refused comment on what he planned next.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who has spent the week trying to defeat the farm-price rider, also was uncertain, saying:

"We'll just have to wait until Monday after surveying the situation." Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who championed the amendment which would revise government parity-price methods, commented:

"I think the Senate has done the proper and just thing, and I hope the President will reconsider his decision."

Old Teller Homestead Being Razed

One of Kingston's old landmarks, the William R. Teller homestead on Maiden Lane, just off Pine street, is being demolished and the timbers in the old house are going to be used for a modern home, thus going to alleviate the present shortage of building materials. Just when the house was built is not known but its old hand-hewn timbers are as sound today as when they were first erected.

The building material is being carefully preserved by the wrecking crew and will go into a home which will be erected by William T. Fuller on Noone Lane, just off Pearl street.

When the wrecking crew began razing the building many unusual features were discovered in the old two and a half story frame homestead which of recent years has been unoccupied. It was found that all of the timbers were hand hewn and that bricks which went into the masonry old fireplaces were also hand fashioned.

The partition walls in the front

rooms of the house were found to be hinged to the ceiling on hand wrought hinges and could be swung back and fastened to the ceiling to convert the front rooms into one big room. It is stated that prior to the house being occupied by the Teller family it was a tavern and the front portion of the premises were frequently converted into one large room for ballroom purposes or for social functions. The premises are still owned by members of the Teller family.

He said Hitlerized Germans have assumed that differences among Russia, Great Britain and the United States were having an adverse effect upon some German people.

Mackenzie, who arrived by plane from Paris yesterday after a four-month tour of Europe, said some Hitlerized portions of the population "have shown indication of taking advantage of this and are throwing their weight about a bit."

He said Hitlerized Germans have assumed that differences among Russia, Great Britain and the United States meant they were not united in their program.

He said Europe's principal need was food.

Mackenzie visited Germany, Spain, Ireland, England, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland and Austria. He was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Mackenzie, who remained in London to meet her brother, liberated from a Japanese prison camp.

"The German people are beaten physically but not mentally," Mackenzie said. "It is going to take a long time to rehabilitate them, and the lowest possible estimate is one generation and probably longer."

He said Germans between 14 and 35 years of age were Hitlerized and that some occupation officials believed most of this group was "just about lost and that you can't do much with them."

New Measures Are Put Forth to Save Grain for Europe

Washington, March 30 (P)—The threatened deficit in American food relief shipments to famine-beset Europe brought new measures today to conserve grain for export.

The Agriculture Department directed a 15 per cent cut in the use of corn for manufactured foods and also ordered a curb on the use of grains in feeding livestock or poultry and making feed. The order is effective April 1.

Besides making more grain available for overseas relief, the department said last night the order should make possible an easing of the feed shortages now existing in some areas of this country.

The corn curtailment applies to such items as breakfast cereals, corn meals and grits.

The curb on the use of grains for feed does not affect farmers who feed their livestock or poultry with grain they grow themselves.

Rockets to Seek Weather Secrets

ets could carry a 150-pound load of instruments to a height of 60 miles. He said the Navy planned to begin launching them from the desert at White Sands, New Mexico. That's the same site to be used this summer by the Army for launching reassembled German V-2 missiles.

Reynolds said the navy's program differed from the army's in that "the army is largely interested in operational characteristics of the rocket, whereas in our program the rocket will be a tool to obtain data on the upper atmosphere."

He gave this outline of objectives:

The plan is to determine the exact composition of outer atmosphere by actually "picking up" physical samples of air which later would be subjected to chemical analysis.

Knowing the exact composition of the outer atmosphere or ionosphere, scientists could determine to what extent radiation of the sun is absorbed before it strikes the earth's immediate atmosphere.

To Measure Radiation

This would lead to accurate measurement of the sun's radiation, thus throwing new light on weather conditions and the phenomena causing radio interference.

Another objective would be to determine the way that air circulates at great heights—a factor to be reckoned with in the future development of "guided missiles."

Will Probe Cosmic Rays

He offered no details on instruments to be used. But he said plans were under consideration both for instruments which might be ejected from a rocket near the top of the missile's trajectory and dropped to the earth and others which might ride with the rocket through the full flight.

Army ordnance men have previously declared instruments might be freed from rockets in flight and parachuted to earth. The rocket itself is returned to earth by a parachute attachment.

The World Today

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

Gander, Newfoundland, March 29—Well, here we are grounded again in the battle we've been waging since last Monday night to reach New York by air from Paris.

Gremkins—some folks claim it is—were interfering with radio communications, forming ice on wings, messing up visibility and playing other pranks which are far from humorous. More prosaic people attribute the radio interference to the northern lights and the ice to freakish weather which is staging a driving snowstorm outside the air headquarters in which this is being written.

Anyway we are stuck here in the far north at one of the world's great airbases, which was largely a development of the World War and remains as an aid to commercial traffic between the new world and the old. Several other planes are held up here and the lounge is filled with a crowd of travelers from many countries.

There are, of course, the inevitable bridge and gin rummy games going forward and the two Englishmen don't move from their in-terminable game of chess. But for the most part the assemblage is broken up into small groups and if you move about among those with whom you have a speaking acquaintance you'll find that they are conversing about international problems.

One party drew me into a discussion of the hot clash in the United Nations Security Council over the Russian-Iranian imbroglio and we arrived at the conclusion that this was a most hopeful development.

The plans seems like a strange thought since the business of a peace league is to maintain peace, and yet it strikes me as a logical viewpoint.

New Records Due As Women Keglers Open Play Today

731 Five-Woman Teams
Are Enterea in Annual
Tourney at Menands
Alleys in Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—
A score of champions and former titleholders are entered in the
New York State Women's Bowling Tournament opening here today, and kegling connoisseurs expect them to force the first new record since 1939.

The rolling royalty is listed in a second field ten-pin title meet that will continue until May 3 at the Recreation Alleys in suburban Menands.

More than 50 communities will be represented by an all-time high of 734 five-woman teams, 1,094 doubles tandems and 1,987 single entries.

The old marks, set at the last tournament in 1944 at Rochester, were 631 teams, 807 doubles and
1,456 singles.

Only 45 teams participated in the first tourney at Syracuse in 1939.

Defending Champs Back
The individual defending champions, whose payoff scores at several years will return, but most of the sideline scrutiny will be focused on pre-war winners.

Esther Walker of Syracuse won the singles crown in 1944 with a three-game 589, well under the record 637 unwound in 1939 by Ann Gottsline Helenbrook of Buffalo.

Jo Santora and Marion Hildebrand of Schenectady took the doubles with 1,112, the lowest winning score in tourney history.
The record 1,218 was rolled in 1939 by Veronica Peters and Mary
Kline of Syracuse.

The 1944 all-events champion,
Prudence Dushoff of Niagara Falls, led with a combined 1,883 in the singles, doubles and team events, Minimum top since 1940.
Frances Kasimer Gabriels of Syracuse owns the all-events record, a 1,753 in 1939.

Bowlers Helenbrook, Peters and Gabriels will compete here.
Syracuse has 124 teams entered and Albany 101. Other cities and their team delegations include:
Rochester 67, Troy 56, Buffalo 42,
Binghamton 32, Schenectady 28,
Utica 25, Gloversville 21, Poughkeepsie 19, Oneida 18, Amsterdam
16, Elmira 15, New York 14, Watertown 13, Jamestown 11, Rome and Ilion 10 and Middle-

Valley Keglers To Dine Sunday Night at Chalet

A gala time has been arranged for some 147 bowlers, wives and invited guests of the Hudson Valley
Bowling League Sunday night at the Chalet in Rosendale when the annual post-season banquet will be held. Ad Jones announced yesterday afternoon.

We're limiting our number of speakers this year," Ad said and putting more stress on presentation of awards and entertainment which will follow the dinner. "The popular turkey dinner added that a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings had been planned for the valley keggers.

Mayor William Edelmuth will be toastmaster at the banquet. Judge Daniel Becker of Newburgh also will be on the speaker's rostrum as will be Bob Stone of Poughkeepsie and Charlie Tiano.

The Van Kleeck Truck Service combine of this city captured the league title last week after a hectic battle with the Newburgh Finnigans down the homestretch and on Sunday night keggers of this combine will be honored. Cliff
Quick, Charlie Grunwald,
George Robinson, Gil Sampson and Fred Rice comprised the winning Hudson Valley League tur-narounders.

Following the banquet and awards there will be dancing.
Assisting Ad Jones on the committee for arrangements have been Gil Sampson, George Robinson,
John McCallan and Harold Bro-kin.

Senate Setback Is Threat to Truman Wage Legislation

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The administration smarted today under a severe setback that threatened to doom President Truman's minimum wage legislation.

The showdown came on a proposal to incorporate in the bill provisions that would boost farm prices, and the proposal won 42-31 yesterday despite Mr. Truman's advance warning that he would veto the measure in that form.

The Senate's week-end recess gave perennial presidential lieutenant a chance to take inventory and consider recasting plans in the face of a politically important defeat.

The farm-price boost amendment was approved after a three-hour fiery debate. The roll-call vote found 24 Democrats and 19 Republicans shouting "yes" and 21 Democrats, 9 Republicans and the lone Progressive LaFollette (Wis.) answering the "no" asked by the President.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) who had gravely delivered the White House veto warning, refused comment on what he planned next.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who has spent the week trying to defeat the farm-price rider, also was uncertain, saying:

"We'll just have to wait until Monday and survey the situation."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who championed the amendment which would revise government parity-price methods, commented:

Old Teller Homestead Being Razed

Freeman Photo

One of Kingston's old landmarks, the William R. Teller homestead on Maiden Lane, at Pine street, is being demolished and the timbers in the old house are going to be used for a modern home, thus going to alleviate the present shortage of building materials.

Just when the house was built is not known but its old hand-hewn timbers are as sound today as when they were first erected.

The building material is being carefully preserved by the wrecking crew and will go into a home which will be erected by William R. Fuller on Noone Lane, just off Pearl street.

When the wrecking crew began razing the building many unusual features were discovered in the old two and a half story frame-homestead which of recent years has been unoccupied. It was found that all of the timbers were hand hewn and that bricks which went into the masonry were also hand fashioned.

The partition walls in the front

rooms of the house were found to be hinged to the ceiling on hand wrought hinges and could be swung back and fastened to the ceiling to convert the front rooms into one big room. It is stated that prior to the house being occupied by the Teller family it was a tavern and the front portion of the premises were frequently converted into one large room for ballroom purposes or for social functions. The premises are still owned by members of the Teller family.

New Measures Are Put Forth to Save Grain for Europe

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The threatened deficit in American food relief shipments to famine-beset Europe brought new measures today to conserve grain for export.

The Agriculture Department directed a 15 per cent cut in the use of corn for manufactured foods and also ordered a curb on the use of grains in feeding livestock or poultry and making feed. The order is effective April 1.

Besides making more grain available for overseas relief, the department said last night the order should make possible an easing of the feed shortages now existing in some areas of this country.

The corn curtailment applies to such items as breakfast cereals, corn meals and grits.

The curb on the use of grains for feed does not affect farmers who feed their livestock or poultry with grain they grow themselves.

ets could carry a 150-pound load of instruments to a height of 60 miles. He said the Navy planned to launch them from the desert at White Sands, New Mexico. That's the same site to be used this summer by the Army for launching reassembled German V-2 missiles.

Rex said the navy's program differed from the army's in that "the army is largely interested in operational characteristics of the rocket, whereas in our program the rocket will be a tool to obtain data on the upper atmosphere."

He gave this outline of objectives:

The plan is to determine the exact composition of outer atmosphere by actually "picking up" physical samples of air which later would be subjected to chemical analysis.

Knowing the exact composition of the outer atmosphere or ionosphere, scientists could determine to what extent radiation of the sun is absorbed before it strikes the earth's immediate atmosphere.

To Measure Radiation

This would lead to accurate measurement of the sun's radiation, thus throwing new light on weather conditions and the phenomena causing radio interference.

Another objective would be to determine the way that air circulates at great heights—a factor to be reckoned with in the future development of "guided missiles."

Will Probe Cosmic Rays

He offered no details on instruments to be used. But he said plans were under consideration both for instruments which might be ejected from a rocket near the drop of the missile's trajectory and dropped to the earth and others which might ride with the rocket through the full flight.

Army ordnance men have previously declared instruments might be freed from rockets in flight and parachuted to earth. The rocket itself is returned to earth by a parachute attachment.

Germans Upset By Strife Among Big Three Nations

New York, March 30 (AP)—DeWitt Mackenzie, Associated Press foreign affairs analyst, said today differences among Russia, Great Britain and the United States were having an adverse effect upon some German people.

Mackenzie, who arrived by plane from Paris yesterday after a four-month tour of Europe, said some Hitlerized portions of the population "have shown indication of taking advantage of this and are throwing their weight about a bit."

He said Hitlerized Germans have assumed that differences among Russia, Great Britain and the United States meant they were not united in their program.

He said Europe's principal need was "unity."

Mackenzie visited Germany, Spain, Ireland, England, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland and Austria. He was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Mackenzie, who remained in London to meet her brother, liberated from a Japanese prison camp.

"The German people are beaten physically but not mentally," Mackenzie said. "It is going to take a long time to rehabilitate them, and the lowest possible estimate is one generation and probably longer."

He said Germans between 14 and 35 years of age were Hitlerized and that some occupation officials believed most of this group was "first class" and that they can't do much with them.

The World Today

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

AP World Traveler

Gander, Newfoundland, March 29—Well, here we are grounded again in the battle we've been waging since last Monday night to reach New York by air from Paris.

Gremlins—some folks claim it is—are interfering with radio communications, forming ice on wings, messing up visibility and playing other pranks which are far from humorous. More prosaic people attribute the radio interference to the northern lights and the ice to freakish weather which is staging a driving snowstorm outside the air headquarters in which this is being written.

Anyway we are stuck here in the far north at one of the world's great airbases, which was largely a development of the World War and remains as an aid to commercial traffic between the new world and the old. Several other planes are held up here and the lounge is filled with a crowd of travelers from many countries.

There are, of course, the inevitable bridge and gin rummy games going forward and the two Englishmen don't move from their permanent game of chess. But for the most part the assembly is broken up into small groups and if you move about among those with whom you have a speaking acquaintance you'll find that they are conversing about international problems.

One party drew me into a discussion of the hot clash in the United Nations Security Council over the Russian-Indian imbroglio and we arrived at the conclusion that this was a most hopeful development.

That perhaps seems like a strange thought since the business of a peace league is to maintain peace, and yet it strikes me as a logical viewpoint.

Down to Real Business

This showdown means that the Council is getting down to real business. It means that the U.N.O. intends to do what its predecessor, The League of Nations failed to do. That is, to nip in the bud the threats to peace.

You have a good illustration of what I mean in the way the old league temporized with Japan's invasion of Manchuria—the act of aggression which encouraged Mussolini and Hitler to embark on conquests by arms. The league sent the Lytton Commission to the Far East to study the Japanese outrage. The commission gave the invasion its right name and called for action against the aggressors. But the league temporized and let the thing go by default. From that stemmed Mussolini's attack on Ethiopia and finally Hitler's attempt to conquer the world.

Most Act Quickly

Either the United Nations deal with threats to peace quickly and finally without fear of personalities involved or it will follow the League of Nations as a failure. Such a failure would mean another world conflict in due course.

That's why your little international committee up here in Gander takes hope from the fact that the Security Council isn't running away from its obligation, even though it be an uncomfortable one.
